These software are not sophisticated as it only provides a working TV channel listings and also searching or filtering capabilities.. Most of us have a television at home with limited free channels to watch unless you subscribe to satellite or cable TV that provides a wider ranger of channels.. Although it is not actively being updated but there are quite a lot of channels that still works.. You will however need media player software such as Windows Media Player or RealPlayer to stream the video to your computer.. If you didn't know, it is possible to get free access to thousands of TV channels online from your computer by just installing a software without a TV card or any other hardware other than your computer, web browser and an Internet connection.

After testing more than a dozen of such software, we end up getting non working channels on half of the software while the working ones are mostly shareware that requires a paid license.. It is free and most importantly clean from any sneaky adware installation during setup.. After installation, starting JLC's Internet TV the first time will prompt you to download the latest channel list.. Each has a catch-up service that allows you to watch programmes broadcast in the last few weeks.. There were a whopping 2697 channels when we tested it and the useful information such as ratings, language, bitrate, category, channel name and country on the channel list is very useful for sorting purposes.. The filtering and search function makes it even easier to retrieve the channels that you are interested in.. We've tested and compiled a working list of 5 software which you can watch TV from your computer for free..
